EFFECTIVELY TREATING MENTAL HEALTH DIAGNOSES CAN
DRAMATICALLY ENHANCE LIFE FOR INDIVIDUALS AND FAMILIES
BY RESTORING FUNCTION, HOPE, AND WELL-BEING.

Living with untreated mental health conditions can be a profoundly difficult and deeply isolating struggle. Empathizing with concerns such as the dense fog of depression, intense dread of anxiety, and extreme state-changes of bipolar disorder can be almost impossible for people without these conditions. The persistent symptoms of these conditions can be debilitating and feel insurmountable. People struggling with mental health diagnoses, and those who care for them, can take comfort in the fact that treatment can be highly effective. Evidence-based psychotherapies, lifestyle modifications, and medications can dramatically reduce mental health diagnosis symptoms and allow people to regain quality-of-life and peace-of-mind.

Futures Recovery Healthcare provides a coordinated program of assessments, individual and group therapy, psychiatry and medication management, and holistic health services to address mental health conditions.

PREVALANCE

Experiencing the symptoms of mental health conditions can make individuals feel isolated and alone. It may help to know that these conditions affect one in five adults at any given time and that such prevalence is driving significant improvements in understanding and effectively treating these conditions. Mental health conditions are complicated illnesses that can affect every aspect of individual and family life. Many factors contribute to developing these conditions, including traumatic life experiences, family history and genetic disposition, physiological and psychological problems, and more. Every person experiences mental health conditions uniquely, and no single approach to treating these diagnoses works for everyone.

Futures offers an array of coordinated assessments, medical, psychotherapeutic, and support services and tailors therapy to individual patient needs.

WHO WE HELP

Futures Recovery Healthcare's RESET Program is designed to treat adults facing mental health concerns such as depression, anxiety, bipolar disorder, mood disorders, and other diagnoses. Our holistic approach integrates compassionate care, evidence-based therapies, and tailored interventions to help patients navigate everyday challenges like work stress, family relationships, and financial pressures, which can exacerbate mental health symptoms. The RESET Program, focused on Rehabilitation, Education, Support, Empowerment, and Transformation, fosters a community of solidarity and support, offering a comprehensive path toward enhanced mental health and overall wellness.

WHAT WE TREAT

The Futures Recovery Healthcare RESET Program takes a holistic and coordinated approach to treating people with a mental health diagnosis such as anxiety, depression, bipolar disorder, related mood diagnoses, and co-occurring mental health conditions. Pre-admission assessments ensure that patients are medically stable, able to participate in programming, and are not experiencing acute symptoms or conditions requiring an acute hospital-level of care. Accurately assessing and addressing mental health diagnoses can be a complex process. Futures' expert professionals take the time to evaluate each patient, affirm or update a diagnosis, and create personalized treatment plans that address one's range of needs. All patients are assessed for trauma and chronic pain. Evidence-based interventions are utilized to address these conditions and incorporate specialized services into their treatment.

MEDICAL AND CLINICAL LEADERSHIP

Effectively treating mental health conditions and helping people establish a strong foothold in recovery takes high-quality, evidence-based integrated medicine, and clinical programming. Futures employs a team of talented, licensed care providers, including specialized medical doctors, nurses, psychotherapists, physical therapists, and wellness professionals. This experienced and credentialed team collaborates to provide effective and coordinated care. Futures' patients are referred to specialized care providers when necessary. Futures is a proud member of the Florida healthcare community and works to build a strong local recovery community.

QUALITY, LICENSURE AND ACCREDITATION

Futures holds itself to the highest quality standards and works hard to help patients, families, and referring professionals feel confident in choosing our program. Futures Recovery Healthcare is accredited by The Joint Commission, the nation's largest medical accrediting body, and is licensed by and meets the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) standards for residential care. Our staff members take part in continuing education and are informed about the latest behavioral health research. Every team member is driven by a desire to help individuals and families experience meaningful, lasting change, and is committed to providing exemplary and compassionate care.

PERSONALIZED CARE

Futures' patients are welcomed upon their arrival and helped to begin their healing journey through ongoing care and compassionate support from all teams. Patients receive a thorough medical and psychiatric assessment and other diagnostic tests to establish baselines and identify medical issues requiring treatment. The Futures' care team collaboratively develops a personalized care plan based on the assessment, assigns a primary therapist and a clinical case manager, and schedules appropriate therapies and services. Patients receive integrated psychiatry, medication management, individual and group psychotherapy sessions, recreational therapy, and family therapy. They may also take part in holistic health activities, including yoga, mindfulness, and meditation.

FAMILY INVOLVEMENT AND SUPPORT

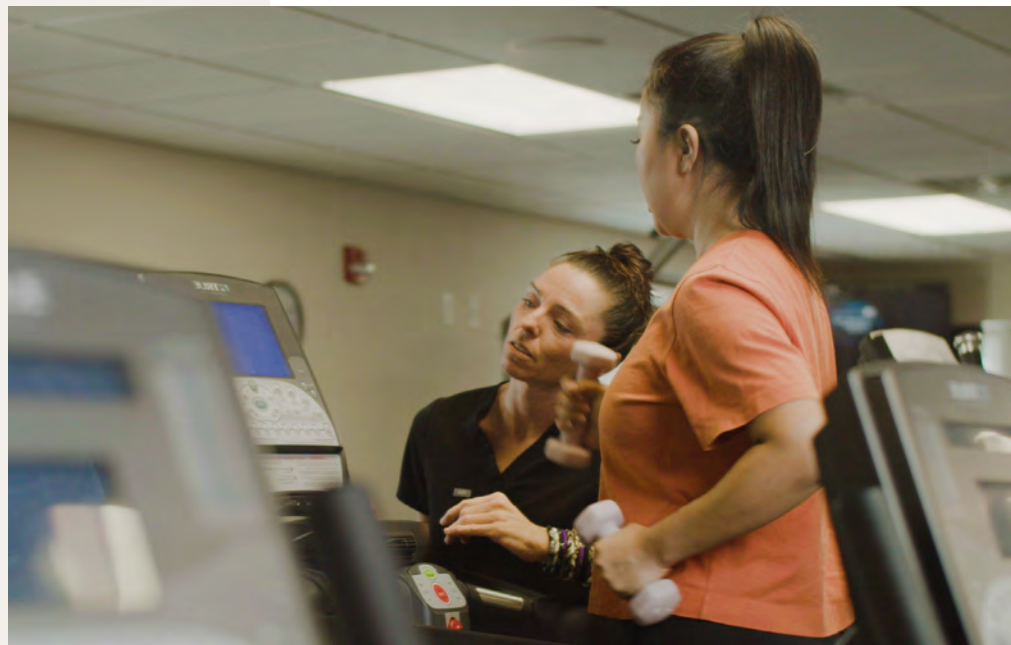

Although mental health conditions may affect only one family member, entire family systems can be impacted. These conditions can cause sufferers to appear disconnected, unable to participate in family and work life, and cause stress and worry among loved ones.

At Futures, Family Support Specialists educate family members about mental health diagnoses and how to help their loved one maintain good mental health.

Family members will work with their loved ones treatment team to restore communication, learn about the impact on the family, and build an understanding of how they can also help secure a foundation for leading an authentically healthful, productive, and joyful life.

RECREATION, SELF-CARE, AND NUTRITION

Living with untreated mental health conditions can make it difficult to experience authentic happiness, connect with friends, or fully relax. These conditions can also make it harder to engage in recreation and exercise and may even cause or exacerbate physical pain. Futures' patients learn to incorporate leisure and wellness into their lives by taking part in structured group recreation activities, exercise, and self-care. Diet also plays a crucial role in maintaining good mental and physical health. Futures provides nutritional education and healthy, delicious meals and snacks to help patients learn how to use nutrition to maintain a healthy lifestyle.

THE FUTURES' EXPERIENCE

The Futures Recovery Healthcare RESET Program and campus is designed to make the process of participating in our intensive holistic clinical and wellness therapies as convenient, efficient, and enjoyable as possible. Futures' patients receive a high number of individual and group therapy hours, receive medical checks, and participate in recreation, self-care, and wellness activities throughout their stay. Time here is spent receiving high-quality care. Leisure and fun are also important for our patients.

Schedules include a balance of intensive clinical work and opportunities to heal through wellness activities, recreation, and connecting with the treatment community.

Finding a balance between the work of treatment and enjoying life is helpful for patients learning to free themselves from the symptoms of mental health diagnoses. All patient suites offer private bedrooms and bathrooms, television, internet, and a shared common space. Private single suites are also available.

COMMON GROUND

Getting to know other people who live with and manage mental health conditions can be a comforting and enriching experience. Futures fosters a safe and welcoming environment, encourages positive patient interaction, and uses group therapy and recreation to help patients find common ground and develop relationships that provide lasting support and camaraderie. Patients are welcomed into our vibrant alumni community upon completing treatment. Alumni programming plays a vital role in a successful recovery continuum of care. Support within the program helps alumni remain accountable to their recovery, establishes a supportive network, provides ongoing care opportunities, and collects outcomes data to improve clinical program performance. We hold frequent alumni meetings, sober outings, volunteer opportunities, and our flagship Days of Ascent events for our alumni.

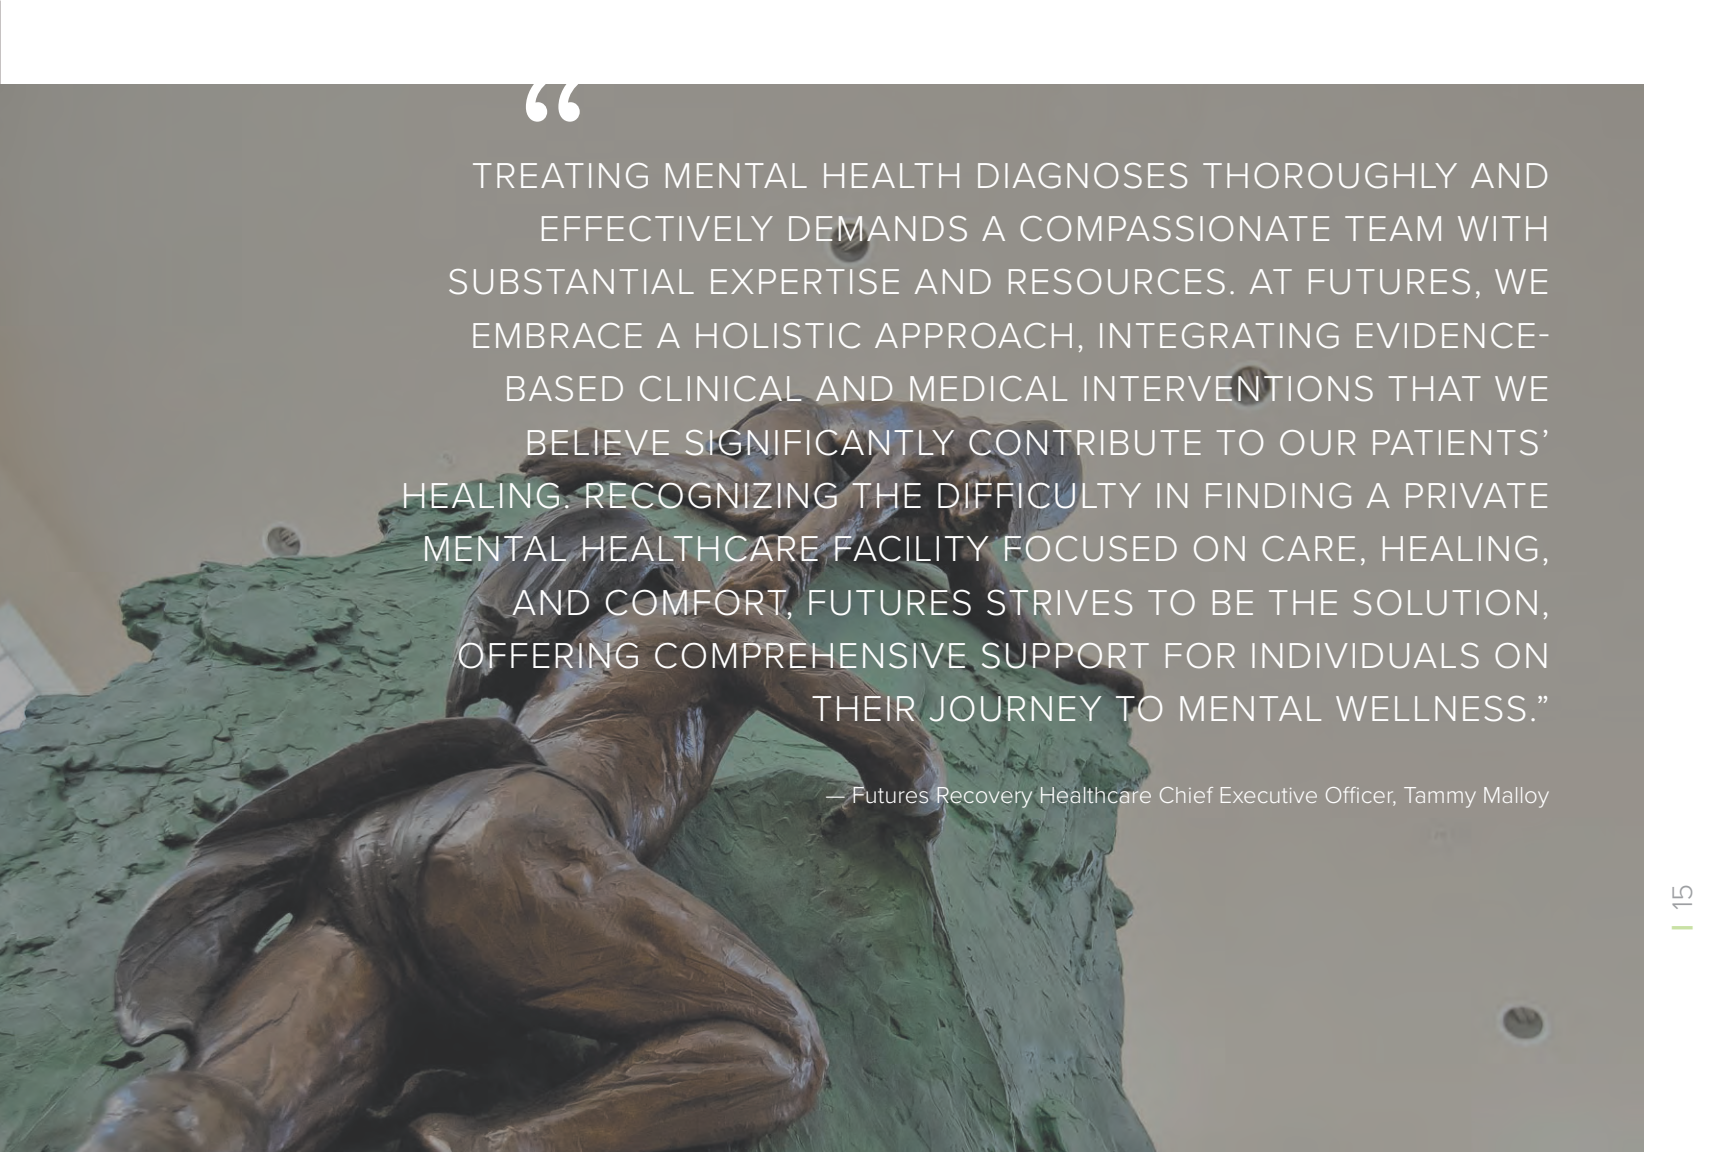

CLINICAL CASE MANAGEMENT

Mental health diagnoses, like other chronic health conditions, require a lifetime of regular management. While Futures' patients can reduce their symptoms and learn vital skills during their time at the residential program, establishing a strong and accessible continuum of coordinated healthcare is often needed to keep symptoms under control and continue additional progress. Futures' clinical case managers facilitate connections to specialized aftercare programs, guiding patients through a seamless transition. They conduct thorough assessments, develop personalized plans, and offer support with various logistical and legal matters, ensuring comprehensive care beyond the residential or treatment phase.

COST OF TREATMENT AND INSURANCE

Futures' RESET Program patients typically pay for their treatment by utilizing their health insurance benefits offered through private commercial insurance policies and private payments. The portion of care that patients cover varies depending upon their insurance plan, deductible, and other factors. Futures helps patients utilize their available benefits to minimize out-of-pocket expenses. We recognize that our unwavering commitment to providing high-quality, coordinated health services can come at a significant cost to our patients. Futures strives to be an effective treatment provider, represent an exceptional healthcare value, and make our care as accessible as possible.
